Advisory Board

What is the Ujima GIRL Project?

Collaborative visionary effort to actively address significant underrepresentation of Black women in STEM.

Builds on, modifies, and extends C-STEM's existing GIRL/GIRL+ Camps. One of the largest rigorous longitudinal social science studies on precollege efforts to broaden STEM participation.

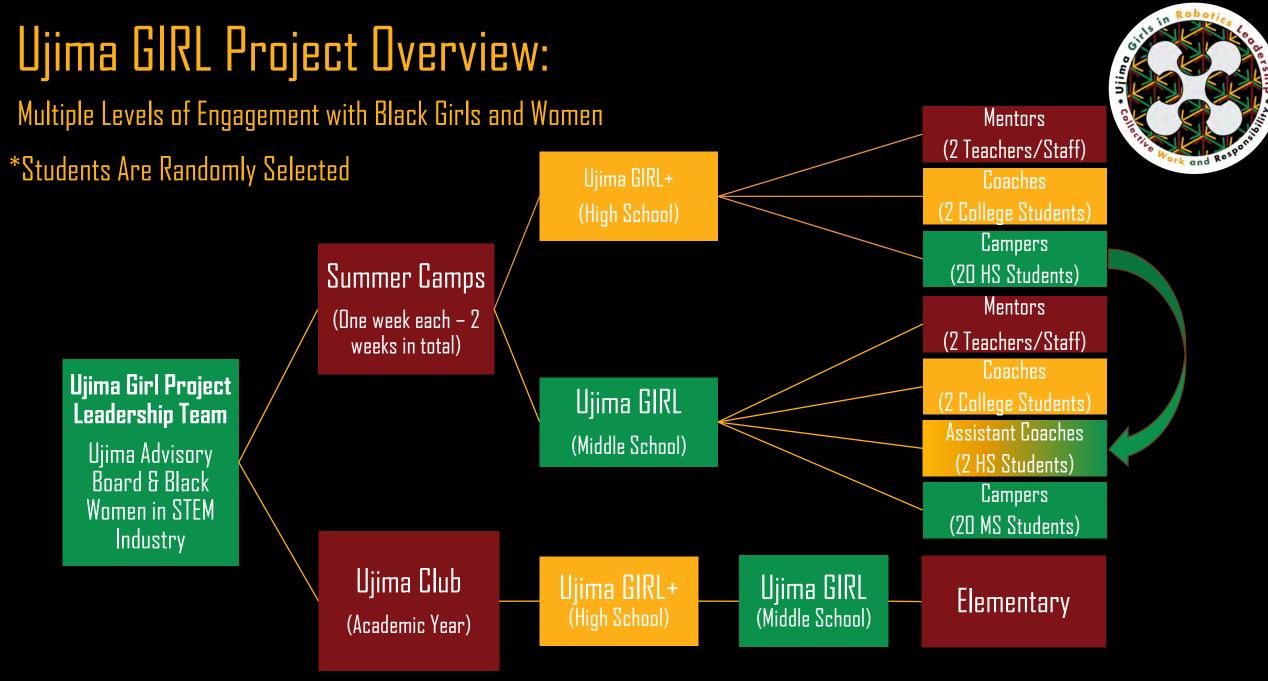

Goal

To expand to 24 districts across California in the next 2 years, nurturing nearly 2,000 African American/Black girls and college women as STEM leaders!

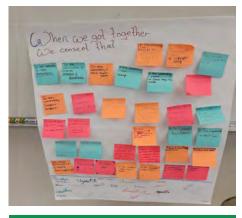

- Sensor-based robotics & physical computing principles & techniques
- Culturally-relevant mentoring
- Increasing self-confidence, engagement, and identity development
- Developing leadership skills
- Building a STEM pipeline
- UC Educational Preparation Program

Ujima GIRL Clubs outreach to schools to build a self-sustaining mentoring pipeline
